

DEPARTMENT OF CLINICAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE SCIENCES
POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT
EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION AREA COORDINATOR, NORTH COAST

The Department of Clinical and Administrative Sciences at California Northstate University College of Pharmacy (CNUCOP) has an opening for a faculty position at the Assistant, Associate or Full Professor level as an Experiential Education Area Coordinator (EEAC) in the beautiful North Coast of Eureka California. The Experiential Education program employs full-time faculty with positions funded entirely by the College. As a member of the faculty, EEACs share the same rights and responsibilities as all other regular faculty of the College. EEACs have an administrative component to their responsibilities which includes the coordination of student experiential activities at one of the College's geographic "hubs". EEACs lead "weekly summits" as part of the educational process for students on rotation in keeping with the College's team-based learning philosophy throughout the program. EEACs are assisted by a full and well-developed staff in the Experiential Education program, including the Associate Dean for Experiential Education. EEACs have allocation funds for travel and self-development and report to the Chair for the Department of Clinical and Administrative Sciences.

The successful candidate will have completed a terminal practice degree (e.g., PharmD). Preference is given to candidates having completed an ASHP-accredited residency and Board Certification, or other post-graduate training (e.g., MS in hospital pharmacy administration). Eligibility for pharmacy licensure in the State of California is required, with the attainment of a California Pharmacy license within 4 months from date of hire. The successful candidate will have experience in clinical hospital-based care, critical care, internal medicine, or drug information and maintain an active practice in his/her area of expertise.

The "hub" is based at St Joseph Hospital in Eureka, CA. St. Joseph Health-Humboldt County has a long history of excellent patient care. For over 90 years, St. Joseph has provided patients with high-quality, reliable care. St Joseph Hospital offers comprehensive services including emergency, cardiac services in The Heart Institute, an accredited Cancer Program, Women's and Children's Services in the Childbirth Center (including Pediatric Care and the only Level II Neonatal Intensive Care Unit Nursery (NICU) on the North Coast), Neurosurgery, and Orthopedic and Sports Medicine. More information can be found at <http://www.stjosepheureka.org/About-Us.aspx>.

CNUCOP is a private institution noted for its team-based learning curriculum and its active engagement of public health services to many, particularly underserved populations. It has graduated three class cohorts and is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE). Additionally, the College has been cited for its inter-professional education program and its assessment of student learning.

Applications will continue to be accepted until the position is filled. Salary is commensurate with experience. Informal inquiries are welcome. We invite all candidates to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and two references to:
